SAFETY MANAGEMENT ORIENTATION
MARCH 13 & 14, 2001

OBJECTIVES:

- To introduce FAA lines of business and their safety points of contact to their role in managing safety for their LOB.
- To encourage a culture shift within the FAA that recognizes that employee safety is one of the components of aviation safety.
- To begin to develop a working relationship among the safety, medical, OWCP, and LOB communities to ensure that work-related injuries are reported promptly and that cases are managed effectively to enable injured employees to return work as soon as they are medically able to do so.
- To explore how other Federal agencies handle worker injuries and utilize strategies that have already been proven to work.